New Mexico couples aim to spend $100 or less on each other

MONTCLAIR, NJ – TopCashback.com, the USA's most generous cashback rebates and coupon site, announced today the results of its 2018 Valentine's Day survey. The research polled a cross section of 5,793 adults aged 18 and over and found the top three gifts for this year's February holiday include: something thoughtful (61 percent), simply spending time together (54 percent) and dinner or a movie (40 percent).

The Cost of Love

The survey also asked Americans about their budgets for February 14. Nearly three quarters (72 percent) will spend $100 or less on the romantic holiday. Not surprisingly, men expect to spend more money than women; three in five men (60 percent) have a target of under $100 whereas 41 percent of women hope to spend less than $50.

“Although loved ones should be treated as though every day is February 14, Valentine’s Day is the zenith for romance and spending time with lovers,” explains Natasha Rachel Smith, Chief Communications Officer (CCO) for TopCashback.com. “Whether you decide to plan a date night or buy a gift for the sweet holiday, TopCashback provides cashback and coupons on purchases for your significant other to help avoid blowing your budget.”
